WHEREAS, N.R.S. 266.105 empowers the Ely City Council to pass ordinances necessary for the municipal government and the management of the affairs of the City, for execution of all powers vested in the City, and for making effective the provisions of Chapter 266 of the Nevada Revised Statutes; and

WHEREAS, City Code 3-5-4 set the licensing fees for table games, gaming machines and coin operated amusement machines at various rates; and

WHEREAS, the City received three written responses to the proposed rate increase and one comment during public comment of the May 9, 2019 City Council meeting from businesses and none of the comments were directed towards the gaming licensing fees; and

WHEREAS, on May 9, 2019 the City Council approved the business impact study showing the fiscal effect of a three percent increase per year for three years, for a total of nine percent increase and determined the small incremental increases would not impose a direct and significant economic burden upon businesses, nor would the increase directly restrict the formation, operation or expansion of a business pursuant to NRS 237.080; and

WHEREAS, on May 9, 2019 the City Council voted to increase the gaming device licensing fees for each type of gaming table, device or amusement machine licensed to a business by 3% per year for the next three fiscal years for a total of 9%; and

May Corrugated Markets Continue to Depress

Markets for Corrugated Cardboard continue to fall in pricing. Markets continue the trend of going down in price, and currently the outlook is that markets will continue to remain poor.

Export markets are the main culprit on the downward market. China is pulling out of the scrap industry and when China consumed 50% of the world's output of scrap material it leaves too many tons on the market dropping the price dramatically.

It is to be expected that pricing remains flat and will likely continue to degrade. The price for many markets will be falling below the point that they are profitable. Negative pricing or prices near zero is market wide for baled material. With prices low, they are still above the cost of landfill and disposal. Material is moving to markets, the prices are just low. Prepare for a wild summer of historical ups and downs. Markets tend to have troubles every 10 to 12 years, we may have a few bad months but don't let a market swing stop you from recycling in better markets in months ahead.

Smokey's Corner

May started out with cardboard markets on the increase but was very short lived. Main issue is with China's Government cracking down on dirty scrap markets. This does not have anything to do with your materials, but adds tons back into the marketplace, causing prices to drop.

Also, part of this is the recent Tariffs on other imports into the US from China. Mostly political reasons and I feel will be short lived at least what we ship into China, as it has good value and is clean. One reason we keep preaching to keep all contaminants out of the bales such as plastics, metal and food waste.

China has said they are banning wastepaper and plastics from May 4th to June 4th with 100% inspections on all loads, but we still have the green light due to our high-quality standards we have been preaching all these years.

We might be communicating contamination issues if there is any as all paper mills are taking this stance right now. At the writing of this newsletter export pricing continues to drop but domestics are asking for more allocations. Questions is at what price since there is an overabundance of cardboard in the marketplace.

Freight costs continue to increase due to higher fuel costs and the overabundance of loads vs. drivers to haul them. Shows the economy is doing great but increases everything we buy.

Domestic old newspapers (ONP), Office Paper (OP) is showing a small decrease this month and mixed paper pricing is all but hard to find on the export side.

On Post-Consumer plastics, we are now seeing clean separated grades of PET with some movement to domestic buyers and HDPE bottles still has some good value. Mixing plastics bottles still have no homes export or domestically.

If you have industrial plastics, we still can grind and keep the materials here in the US where markets are a lot stronger.

Equipment Spotlight of the Month:

For the Month of May we are spotlighting Vestil's light load lifters. These work amazing for placing large boxed wire on auto tie horizontal balers. Increases the safety and ease of loading for cumbersome loads. They come with different options for lift (manual, auto) and a wide range of weight capacity. Reach to our sales team for More Info.

Recycling Market Update

Here is our quick overview on recycling markets in the West. Pricing is a net overall, because we cover a large geographic area. Actual net returns / changes may vary per customer.

 OCC Corrugated Cardboard: Overall OCC has seen a price decrease for the month. Export markets continue to drop while domestic markets continue to have soft pricing. Markets reach historical pricing lows, and the outlook for June does not indicate any improvement in pricing for materials.

 Office Pack / White Grades: Pricing has dropped for white grades for the month. Clean white paper is always in demand, but off some for the period. Prices remain healthy as the need for pulp increases. Markets are seeing a $10 or more per ton drop in values on average. White grades are seeing significant drop in pricing for April and the trend may continue into June.

 Mixed Paper / Newspaper: Prices for clean papers have dropped some for March markets for clean paper. Dirty paper if processed in a MRF are still having major issues and minimal markets overseas. Keep it Clean!. Value of dirty MRF Paper is still worth a negative amounts in many areas. Clean Grades are down about $5.00 per ton again this month.

 Post - Consumer Plastics: Mixed grades continue to unmarketable. Sorted grades of PET #1, and HDPE Plastics are on the rise. Say What? What are we seeing go up, fuel prices! With the trend in higher fuel prices, prices for plastics will slowly be on the rise. We are seeing more interests in plastics that we have seen in years. Still a long way to go on many grades, but the trend is up!

 Printer Grades: Print grades are seeing some slowing in pricing mostly on the high grade side of the industry. SBS grades, OP grades, other premium printer grades are seeing pricing come down some for the month of May following a pattern from global paper markets. Markets are down for most paper grades in general.

CITY OF ELY

City Hall (775) 289-2430 - Fax (775) 289-1463

June 24, 2019

The reasoning for this proposed switch back to the previous City of Ely corporate logo is threefold:

1: The current logo is colorful and detailed and as such is expensive to reproduce, especially for signage and equipment (i.e. work trucks). The previous logo is already on a good deal of our equipment and forms. Also, I'm told we already have door decals of the previous city logo ready to put on city vehicles and equipment. Using the previous logo will save the city money in the short term and going forward.

2: The current City of Ely logo prominently features the train. While the railroad museum is one of, if not our top, attractions I believe it is important to distinguish between the City of Ely as an entity and the railroad. The logo featuring the train can be confusing to visitors and the public.

3: The previous city logo is a simpler design. It's easier to read and as it had been the city logo for many years it is easily recognizable to the public and provides a sense of continuity. Also, the previous logo correctly identifies Ely as an incorporated city, whereas the current train logo does not.
